

1 June, 2011

Dear Friends,

This week the Newsflash! is about community empowerment, specifically, what communities and their organizations can do to strengthen their capacities.

The Community Empowerment Collective is a nonprofit organization that creates, translates, and makes accessible free trainings and community empowerment methodologies. The resources are available in multiple languages. They come with a dictionary of key words to assist with unknown vocabulary.

We hope that the following will provide you with useful information and resources.

Sincerely,

Firelight Team

(Call for Applications) UNHR Fellowship Programme

In the context of the International Year for People of African Descent, the Anti-Discrimination Section of the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights is launching a Fellowship Programme for People of African Descent from 10 October to 4 November 2011.

The Fellowship Programme will provide participants with the opportunity to deepen their understanding of the United Nations Human Rights system and its mechanisms, with a focus on issues of particular relevance to people of African descent.

This will allow the fellows to better contribute to the protection and promotion of civil, political, economic, social and cultural rights of Afro-descendants in their respective countries and communities.

Who can apply?

- The candidate must be an African descendant.
- The candidate must have a minimum of 4 years experience dealing with afro-descendant or minority issues.
- The candidate must be fluent in English.
- A letter of support from an afro-descendant organization or community.

Selection Process

In selecting the fellows, gender and ensuring a regional balance will be taken into account. All documents submitted must be in English.

Entitlements

The selected candidate is entitled to a stipend to cover accommodation, basic living expenses in Geneva, basic health insurance as well as a return economy class plane ticket.

Application

Interested candidates are requested to submit their application by email to: africandescent@ohchr.org or by fax to 004122-928 9050 with a cover letter clearly indicating "Application to the 2011 Fellowship Programme for People of African Descent" with the following documents:

- An application form
- A Curriculum Vitae
- A letter of motivation (maximum 1 page) in which the candidate will explain his/her motivation for applying, what he/she hopes to achieve through this fellowship and how he/she will use what they learn to promote the interests and rights of afro-descendants
- A letter of support from an organization/entity they are affiliated with.

The deadline to receive applications is 15 June 2011. Please note that only short-listed applicants will be contacted. For more information, go here: <http://www.ohchr.org/EN/NewsEvents/Pages/IYPADFellowshipProgramme.aspx>

(Call for Applications) Fellowship Opportunity for Advocates Aimed at Implementing HIV Prevention Related Activities

AVAC: Global Advocacy for HIV Prevention invites applications for 2012 Advocacy Fellowship project. The project is aimed at supporting the emerging and mid-career advocates to design and implement advocacy projects focused on biomedical HIV prevention research and related implementation activities in their countries and communities. Advocacy Fellows carry out their projects while based at Host Organisations that are active partners in the Fellowship process.

Goal of the HIV Prevention Research Advocacy Fellowship

The overall goal of the Advocacy Fellowship is to expand the capacity of civil society advocates and organisations to monitor, support, and help shape biomedical HIV prevention research and related implementation worldwide. The Advocacy Fellowship is guided by the belief that effective, sustainable advocacy grows out of work that reflects organisational and individual interests and priorities.

Fellowship Support

The Fellowship provides:

- * Mentoring and capacity building
- * Connection to a global network
- * Opportunities for networking and information sharing
- * A small stipend and technical assistance
- * Financial support and technical assistance
- * Overhead to the Host Organisation to cover costs associated with hosting a Fellow.

Eligibility:

The HIV Prevention Research Advocacy Fellowship seeks applicants who are:

- Emerging or mid-career community leaders and advocates involved or interested in HIV prevention research advocacy.
- Individuals with some experience or education in the areas of HIV and AIDS, public health, medicine, international development, women's rights, communications, or advocacy
- Based in developing countries where biomedical HIV prevention clinical research is planned or ongoing or medical male circumcision for HIV prevention is being introduced.
- Able to collaborate with English-speaking mentors. Applications are encouraged from all countries where such research is ongoing or being rolled out; however the Advocacy Fellow and key staff at his/her organisation must be able to communicate with AVAC staff in English.

Deadline for submitting the application is July 15, 2011

(Call for submissions) World Summit Youth Awards 2011

Registration is now open for World Summit Youth Awards 2011 that are open to young people (under the age of 30 years from any of the UN member states) that have developed any sort of innovative project or product using information technology aimed at helping their community.

You may be a developer of website or mobile apps, e-content writer, journalists or writer, application designer, technologist or anyone contributing to address poverty, protecting the environment, sharing knowledge and empowering young people.

If the answer is yes, then opportunity has come your way in getting your efforts recognized in the form of WSYA 2011 Award.

WSYA Award Highlights

The Youth Award is not a cash award. The reward for winners is to be recognized on a world stage, to be invited to the winners' events, to be able to connect with each other and discuss with renowned experts in the field of ICT for Development. Last year, winner's events took place in New York, USA.

The WSYA selects and promotes best practice in e-Content. It demonstrates young people's potential to create outstanding digital contents and serves as a platform for people from all UN member states to work together in the efforts to reach the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs).

These Awards are offered in six categories:

1 – Fight Poverty, Hunger & Disease 2 – Education 3 – Power 2 Women 4 – Create your Culture 5 – Go Green 6 – Pursue Truth

The project or product may be in any of the official languages of candidate's country.

Organizers of the Award

The WSYA is organized as a follow up activity of the World Summit on Information Society and its action plan towards the year 2015. The Youth Award is organized by the World Summit Award Network for the fourth time after 2005, 2009 and 2010. It is promoted in all UN member states through the networks of the World Summit Award (WSA) the UN Global Alliance for ICT, other participating UN Organizations and Agencies, governments and NGOs, youth organizations and all those committed to making a real difference in the achievement of the MDGs.

The WSYA Team is based at the International Centre for New Media (ICNM), an independent non-profit organization based in Salzburg, Austria. Tentative last date for getting registered for this award is Mid July, 2011. For further information, please visit the link.

(Resources) The Community Empowerment Collective

Main website: <http://www.scn.org/cmp/collect.htm>

All training modules: <http://www.scn.org/cmp/modules/a-mod.htm>

1) Resource: Gender Awareness and Balance

Encouraging equal opportunity for males and females

Gender is not about women; it is about relations between men and women. Raising awareness about gender issues, and promoting gender balance are both essential and integral parts of community mobilizing, management training, poverty reduction, capacity development, income generation and empowerment.

This module concentrates on assisting the mobilizer in developing techniques for both raising awareness and promoting balance. The core document describes the issues (cultural, economic, political and human rights) and guides the mobilizer in custom designing appropriate strategies. Others will be useful as training aids.

Gender Issues; Workshop Handout <http://www.scn.org/cmp/modules/gen-par.htm>

2) Resource: Mobilizing the Community

Moving a community to take action

The empowerment of communities, the promotion of community participation, the mobilization cycle, the stimulation of self help, social change towards more self reliance, the fight to eliminate poverty — all these form a related set of interventions.

This series includes: Introduction to the Mobilization Intervention, The Mobilization Cycle, a workshop handout, The Mobilization Cycle, explained in more detail, The Mobilization Cycle Illustrations, To be a Mobilizer, a one-page training handout indicating what is needed to be a mobilizer, and what a mobilizer does, Unity Organizing, explains that communities are not naturally unified, but the intervention needs to unite a community in order to make a communal decision, Eating With Friends, describes the role of food in empowering communities, Training As Mobilizing, describes the special methodology of training that includes organizing as well as skill transfer.

Relevant Documents for Mobilization:

The Mobilization Cycle This document outlines the mobilization cycle.

<http://www.scn.org/cmp/modules/mob-cyc.htm>

The Mobilization Cycle Step by Step

This document explores each stage in the mobilization cycle. Each stage is explained briefly. It should be read along with the Mobilization Cycle one-page workshop handout above.

<http://www.scn.org/cmp/modules/mob-cx.htm>

To Be a Mobilizer

This section explores how to be an effective mobilizer.

The role of the mobilizer is to mobilize a community into action so that it can become more empowered and self-reliant. There are many skills and roles that can increase the effectiveness of mobilizers.

<http://www.scn.org/cmp/modules/mob-be.htm>

Unity Organizing

This section explores how to promote and encourage unity.

All communities have divisions and disputes within them. They might be based on religion, class, clan, language, ethnic differences and other factors. These divisions make it difficult for communities to come together to make decisions or to agree on a problem to be solved. Therefore, it is important to be able to bring the various groups together to promote and encourage unity.

<http://www.scn.org/cmp/modules/mob-uni.htm>

Training as Mobilization

This section explores the methodology of using training to mobilize.

The word "training" is often assumed to be only the transfer of skills to trainees. In community management training, it goes much further; it includes encouragement, mobilizing the group to take action and organizing to increase capacity and strength.
